Welcome to the University of Sydney

Sydney is Australia’s most exciting, dynamic and stunningly beautiful city, and the University of Sydney reflects every aspect of that excitement, dynamism and beauty.

Australia’s oldest University, our principal campus overlooks the city, right next to vibrant shopping and eating areas. Campus life here is outstanding — there are a great many clubs and societies you can join during your stay with us that will enable you to make lifelong friends and to discover all that Sydney has to offer.

Then, of course, there’s the study... world-class facilities, inspirational academics, and a team of support staff dedicated to assisting you to make the most of your semester here.

The University of Sydney is a vibrant community and a place where dreams come true. Come and experience it for yourself.

Dr Michael Spence
Vice-Chancellor and Principal
As Australia’s first university our reputation spans more than 160 years. We are regularly ranked in the top 0.3% of universities worldwide. We teach more than 50,000 bright minds, with 10,000 international students from more than 145 countries.

We’ve taught 145 Olympians, 6 prime ministers, 2 Nobel laureates, 3 astronauts, 110 Rhodes scholars and 1 Pulitzer Prize winner.

What will you achieve?

When you come to study at the University of Sydney, you become part of an inspiring network of leading academics, and distinguished graduates and alumni. The cross-disciplinary nature of our 16 faculties allows us to offer the widest range of academic programs of any Australian university, giving you the flexibility to personalise your study abroad experience.
1889
Jane Foss Russell is the first woman to graduate from the University.

1924
Dr John Bradfield receives the first Doctor of Science in engineering. His thesis included designs for a bridge across the harbour. In 1932 his design for the Sydney Harbour Bridge was completed.

1958
Science graduate and lecturer Dr David Warren invents and develops the flight data recorder and cockpit voice recorder, also known as ‘the black box’.

1965
Student Charles Perkins led 30 students through small-town Australia on a Freedom Ride protesting against racial discrimination. Perkins was the first Aboriginal man to graduate from university and later was the first Aboriginal person to become the head of a federal government department.

1969
Germaine Greer (who graduated with a Master of Arts from the University) publishes The Female Eunuch, a book epitomising new thinking on social issues.

1990s
Alumni John O’Sullivan (Bachelor of Engineering, Doctor of Philosophy), and a team of colleagues at the Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organisation (CSIRO) are credited with inventing Wi-Fi.

Today
PhD student Lara Malins is closing in on a new cancer vaccine. She and her supervisors have developed a number of vaccine-like compounds in the search for ones that will trigger a strong immune response.

1850
The University was established in 1850 and the first students were admitted in 1852.

“The University of Sydney should be available to the child of every class, to become great and useful in the destinies of his country... whether they are disciples of Moses, of Jesus, of Mahomed, of Vishnu or of Buddha.”

William Charles Wentworth
University founder

1870s
University pioneer Professor Charles Badham campaigns for the introduction of bursaries for disadvantaged students.

“This University is not only for those who have private means or professional connections to start them; it is founded for the people.”

1880
The University receives one of the largest bequests ever left to an Australian university, after John Henry Challis donates the equivalent of $32 million. Today, the University offers more than 700 student scholarships valued at $65 million per year.

1881
The University opens its doors to women, admitting them on the same basis as men. It was among the first in the world to do so, many decades before Oxford or Cambridge.

Since 1850, the University of Sydney has led the way in setting new directions for society.

We discarded the conventions of Britain’s traditional universities by admitting students on academic merit rather than religion or social class. More than 160 years on, one thing remains constant: our belief in the power of education to change society for the better.
Sydney ranks second on a list of the 50 best cities in the world in which to live, work and study,* above New York and Paris. Our university has also been named among the world’s top 10 most beautiful universities.

The University of Sydney has a network of campuses in the heart of the city and beyond.

“Sydney is a beautiful, multicultural city with good public transportation, amazing parks and beaches. If you’re thinking of studying at Sydney Uni, my advice is to get out of your comfort zone and GO. My self-confidence, English and personal and professional skills developed so much from my time at the University.”

Leticia Luiz
Università Estadual de Campinas, Brasil, 2013 NSW International Student of the Year

“What defines my time is not a particular moment, but just realising that you are immersed into a new life in a city far away from home. From standing on top of the Blue Mountains, to surfing on the Northern Beaches, to swimming in a pool on a skyscraper, all these things are now what I call life here in Sydney!”

Hersh Patel
University College London, United Kingdom, Master of Science - Chemistry International Program

“It has been the best year of my life. The first semester was like a 5-month dream come true, exploring beautiful beaches and cities and making such wonderful friends. The second semester was a time to transition into more maturity as an adult living independently. I have learned, seen, done and enjoyed so much, and I wouldn’t trade the opportunity for anything.”

Allison Grace De La Torre
University of Richmond, USA, Bachelor of Science (Business Administration - International Business

“Sydney is a great city, with infinite opportunities for fun, culture and discovery. The University of Sydney reflects the city by helping students to understand diversity, different cultures and points of view, to have fun and learn beyond textbooks. The Study Abroad experience transformed me into a brand new person.”

The passion and brilliance of our academics ranks them among the best in the world. They push the boundaries of knowledge to become leaders in their field.

From your first day at the University of Sydney, you’ll have the opportunity to learn from inspiring academics. It is due to the outstanding calibre of their work that we continue to rank among the top research universities in the world and offer a cutting-edge curriculum that is constantly fed by new research.

Every year government, industry, alumni and business leaders demonstrate their belief in us by donating millions of dollars to support the research and education of our students and staff.
With our excellent academic reputation, including Business School accreditation by the peak European (EQUIS) and North American (AACSB International) bodies, you can have great confidence in your semester of study.

Here are some unit of study suggestions (with their course codes) to help you find your focus at Sydney. For a full guide to units of study available to Study Abroad and Exchange students and information about pre-approval requirements and credit transfer arrangements visit ...sydney.edu.au/stabex-units
With over 150 disciplines on offer at undergraduate and postgraduate level, you are spoilt for choice.

You may also consider adding a Sydney Southeast Asia Centre (SSEAC) interdisciplinary field school to your study to further diversify your Australasian experience.

sydney.edu.au/southeast-asia-centre/students/field-schools-exchanges
The University of Sydney is one of the world’s top research universities and a member of the prestigious Group of Eight network. By uniting expertise across disciplines, we make a real difference to our understanding of today’s world.

Our students have access to more than 70 world-leading interdisciplinary research and teaching centres, including:

- Charles Perkins Centre, which brings together scholars searching for solutions to obesity, diabetes, cardiovascular disease and related conditions
- Sydney Environment Institute
- Centre for Carbon, Water and Food
- Marie Bashir Institute for Infectious Diseases and Biosecurity
- China Studies Centre
- Sydney Southeast Asia Centre
- John Grill Centre for Project Leadership
- Brain and Mind Research Institute
- National Centre for Cultural Competence
- Australian Centre for Field Robotics.

Our research is driven by the big picture. We take a problem and look at it from all angles, combining the expertise and talents of scholars and students from multiple disciplines.

What sets the University of Sydney apart? Exceptional facilities, an innovative edge and the drive to challenge traditional ways of thinking. Our students have the opportunity to be part of this: contributing to research that pushes the boundaries and makes a meaningful, real-world impact.

Research opportunities are open to postgraduate Study Abroad or Exchange students. You can identify your potential supervisor using Research Supervisor Connect, the online database that matches your research interests to PhD and master’s degree research opportunities and supervisors.

Sydney Abroad Internships

Sydney Abroad Internships set the University of Sydney’s Study Abroad Program apart. Complement your academic study with relevant industry or research experience.

Sydney Abroad Interns complete 120 hours in an industry or research placement with one of our many and varied industry partners.

- sydney.edu.au/future-students/sydney-abroad/internships.shtml

Parallel to your work placement are eight hours of professional development workshops, academic readings and a range of assessments, including a final 2500-word project report.

Sydney Abroad Internship (ART52600) is a unit of study worth 6 credit points (standard weighting for a unit) and taken alongside three other units of study in a given semester.

Your internship will allow you to:
- Develop familiarity with the Australian workplace culture
- Enhance your interpersonal, communication and cross-cultural skills
- Use your skills in a real work environment
- Gain a competitive advantage in the graduate employment market by developing global connections in your chosen profession.

Internship Areas

Our regular Host Partners offer placements in the following roles and industries:
- Accounting, Economics and Finance
- Advertising, Marketing and Sales
- Architecture and Urban Planning
- Business and Management
- Charity
- Education and Tutoring
- Engineering and Information Technology
- Events, Public Relations and Social Media
- Government and Policy
- Media and Communications
- Retail and Fashion
- Science and Research

How To Apply

Simply indicate your interest through the online application form when you apply for the Study Abroad program. You must also upload the following documents when submitting the Study Abroad application:
- resume
- cover letter

Please note: Every effort will be made to offer internships to all eligible students but placement cannot be guaranteed.

Eligibility

To be considered for the Sydney Abroad Internships you need to:
- Be an applicant of the Study Abroad Program
- Satisfy all requirements of the Study Abroad Program
- Achieve a cumulative GPA of 3.2 or higher on a 4.0 scale, or ‘B’ or better on the ECTS grading scale
- Have completed at least 1.5 years of university study

“Sydney Abroad Internships set the University of Sydney’s Study Abroad Program apart. Complement your academic study with relevant industry or research experience.

I decided to complete an internship at the University of Sydney because I believe you can learn so much when you’re outside of the classroom and participating in your field of choice. My internship has provided me with a great place to get hands-on experience doing research on things I only read about in class!”

Madelyn Rubenstein
University of Rochester, USA, Neuroscience major

“The internship experience abroad has changed my outlook on how I view business and the professionals steering the ship. Every day serves as a chance to jump out of your comfort zone, an exhilarating experience you learn to crave and enjoy.”

Jenn Crane
University of California, Los Angeles, USA, Communication Studies major and Environmental Systems/Society minor
Experience
University life

Campus life at the University of Sydney is a unique experience.

You’ll enjoy an inspiring learning environment and a vibrant campus alive with activity and diversity. Through our packed calendar of campus events and celebrations, take advantage of our partnerships with iconic Sydney festivals and events, such as Vivid Sydney and the Sydney Writer’s Festival. There is something to please everyone from our Sydney Ideas lectures, music and drama, museums, sports and much more.

Experience
Sport and fitness

Sydney Uni Sport and Fitness offers a huge range of facilities, programs and campus events to keep you healthy and active.

You can get involved in athletics, swimming, tennis, golf, hockey, soccer, rugby union, rowing, scuba diving, skiing and more. Whether you want to play at the competitive level or just socially, there’s an option for you.

Competitive Sports

The Sydney University Athletic Club had a standout season of competition. They represented at the Australian Track and Field Championships in early 2015 and brought home 4 national titles and 10 gold medals.

The Sydney Uni Flames has a long tradition of success in Australian women’s basketball. Their newly appointed head coach won WNBL Coach of the Year in 2015.

Similarly our rowing and boat clubs are an institution of passion and achievement. The men’s coxed eight won the Australian Boat Race for the fourth time in the young history of the event.

We also have a number of less conventional sports clubs including an American Football team; they won the Waratah Bowl in 2014.

2014 saw Sydney University win Australian University Games by a record margin, collecting 18 gold pennants, highlighting the strength of our clubs across a broad range of sports.

In 2014, 20 students from the University of Sydney competed in the Commonwealth Games in Glasgow, returning with 6 medals, including three gold medals in athletics, diving and swimming. Next stop, hopefully, Rio 2016 Olympics.

The facts

- We have produced 144 Olympians and 119 Australian Rugby Union Representatives.
- Sydney University Football Club is the oldest club now playing rugby union in Australia, and is nicknamed ‘The Birthplace of Australian Rugby’ or simply ‘The Birthplace’.
- We offer group fitness and weight rooms, an Olympic size heated swimming pool and a climbing wall.
- We were competitors in the Quidditch World Cup.

Experience
Student support services*

Once you get to the University of Sydney, you’ll have plenty of help. We offer a wide range of services to help you make the most of your time here and develop skills and strategies to enjoy university life to the fullest.

Here are just a few of the ways we can support your health, welfare and academic life.

Enrolment Support and Advice
It can take a little time to adjust to a new academic system. Sydney Abroad Advisers provide enrolment support and advice about which of your preferred units of study, submitted at the time of application, are approved.

Advisers also guide you through the enrolment process prior to arrival and work with you to ensure your enrolment is finalised within the first two weeks of semester.

- sydney.edu.au/future-students/sydney-abroad/enrol.shtml

Orientation and Social Events
Orientation is an action-packed opportunity to dive into the social and academic experiences of campus life – it’s a great time to make friends, attend official welcome events, and enjoy a huge and varied program of entertainment.

Sydney Abroad orientation starts with Meet and Greet sessions two weeks prior to semester. The official welcome and enrolment advising events take place during the week prior to semester.

- sydney.edu.au/orientation

Social events such as a Sydney harbour cruise, breakfast with koalas, surf camp, city tours and more are coordinated by the Sydney Abroad team, Buddy Club and the University of Sydney Union (USU).

The USU also runs the three-day O-Week Festival during Orientation Week in February before Semester 1 (the largest event of its kind in Australia) and a smaller event in August for Semester 2.

Accommodation

Choosing where to live will be one of the biggest decisions you’ll make after making your decision to study in Australia, but there is plenty of help available. Your first stop should be our Student Accommodation Services website. It will give you helpful advice on where to live, the costs and offcampus accommodation options.

sydney.edu.au/accommodation

Guaranteed accommodation
We take the stress out of finding a place to live by offering you guaranteed accommodation at Urbanest Cleveland, a new student accommodation complex minutes away from our Camperdown Campus. All you need to do is submit your application by the deadline.

Application forms will be provided when you receive your unconditional offer to study at the University of Sydney as a Study Abroad or Exchange student.

Urbanest is just a few kilometres’ walk from the city centre, allowing you to be close to both the University and the excitement of downtown Sydney. Rooms are fully furnished and facilities include wi-fi, a gym, 24-hour onsite staff and security systems.

− sydney.edu.au/accommodation/ urbanest

Temporary arrival accommodation (international students)
If you have not secured guaranteed housing before you move to Sydney, we recommend that you book a temporary place to stay. Once you have arrived and are settled in your temporary accommodation, you can then look around for longer-term accommodation.

− sydney.edu.au/accommodation/ short_term

On-campus – residential colleges (fully catered)
The University has eight residential colleges on the Camperdown/Darlington Campus, including International House, a residential community of global scholars. Our colleges provide comfortable, fully furnished single rooms and daily meals, along with comprehensive sporting, cultural, leadership and social programs.

− sydney.edu.au/colleges

On-campus student housing (self catered)
The University offers furnished rooms in shared or self-contained apartments and houses usually located within walking distance of the Camperdown/Darlington, Cumberland and Camden Campuses.

These residences include the newly revamped Queen Mary Building (QMB), opening in July 2015, and Abercrombie Student Accommodation (opening 2016).

sydney.edu.au/accommodation/ on_campus/camperdown/ self_catered

Off-campus living
More than 90 percent of our students live off campus, including many Study Abroad and Exchange Students. The University of Sydney is close to a number of easily accessible, multicultural and vibrant suburbs such as Annandale, Newtown, Chippendale and Glebe. No matter what campus you’re studying at, Student Accommodation Services can help you find accommodation nearby. The service maintains a large online database of properties. Shared housing ranges from about A$200 to A$350 per week per person.

A rented one-bedroom apartment can range from about A$250 to A$450 per week, depending on its facilities, size and location.

Developing global citizens is an important priority for the University of Sydney. Every year, more than 3000 students visit or depart the University for an international experience through international field schools, professional placements, short-term study, semester and year-long exchanges and independent study, and the study abroad program.

Our strategic partnerships with over 350 globally respected institutions span from China to Chile, Norway to New Zealand, Sweden to Spain, and the United States to the United Kingdom. We are proud of these global connections and welcome the diversity that our Sydney Abroad students bring to the campus.

Step 1: Choose your application pathway.
Step 2: Check you meet entry requirements.
Step 3: Submit your application online with the relevant documents.

Application Pathways
To become a Study Abroad student, you can submit your application one of three ways:
- directly to the University of Sydney (sydney.edu.au/studyabroad)
- via your home university’s Study Abroad office, where a partnership agreement exists with the University of Sydney (sydney.edu.au/stabex-partners)
- via one of the University of Sydney’s authorised representatives/agents (sydney.edu.au/stabex-partners).

Check Admission Requirements
You must meet a minimum grade requirement. You may also need evidence of English language proficiency if English is not your first language. Some study areas require additional information such as a portfolio or audition recording. Research students must also submit a brief proposal and written confirmation that a Sydney academic has agreed to supervise you (see sydney.edu.au/stabex-admissions).

Check Deadlines
Submit online applications by these deadlines via our website (sydney.edu.au/stabex-admissions):
- To start in Semester 1 (March) 2016: apply by 30 November 2015
- To start in Semester 2 (July) 2016: apply by 30 April 2016.

Costs
- Tuition fees: $12,000 flat rate per semester (waived for Exchange students) (2015/2016 rate)
- Mandatory Overseas Student Health Cover (OSHC): $322 for 6 months, $594 for 12 months (2015 rate)
- Additional materials, equipment and field trip costs may apply to some units of study. Amounts range from $50 to $200.
