

MA in International Economic Policy (MIEP) Professional Specialization: International Trade and Investment Policy (Sample of Relevant Classes)

Students pursuing this focus may find this list helpful. However, these are just suggestions. These courses have all been offered in recent semesters but specific offerings vary from semester to semester.

Sample of Relevant Classes---Some Courses Require Prerequisites

ECON 6292 Economics of U.S. Trade Policy
ECON 6292 Quantitative Models in Trade Policy Analysis
ECON 6295 Economic Analysis of International Trade Law
ECON 6295 Energy Economics
ECON 6237 Economics of Environment and Natural Resources
ECON 6255 Economics of Technological Change
ECON 6269 Economy of China
ECON 6293 Emerging Markets Capital Flows and Crises
ECON 6340 Applied Labor Economics & Public Policy
ECON 6295 Applied Environmental Economics
ECON 6295 Applied Cost Benefit Analysis
IAFF 6118 Public Policy Governance & Global Markets
IAFF 6198 Trade and Development Policy
IAFF 6198 Economics of US-China Trade Disputes
IAFF 6158 Economics of Space
IAFF 6158 Energy Policy
IAFF 6186 Political Risk Analysis
IAFF 6186 Illicit Finance & Security
IAFF 6142 Technology Creation and Diffusion
IAFF 6318 Political Economy of China, India & Beyond
IAFF 6318 Chinese Business Law
IAFF 6358 Migration, Remittances & Development
IAFF 6378 Oil: Industry, Economy, and Society
IAFF 6378 Political Economy of the Middle East
IBUS 6301 International Business Finance
PPPA 6005 Public Budgeting, Revenue and Expenditure Analysis
PPPA 6006 Policy Analysis
PPPA 6015 Cost-Benefit Analysis
PPPA 6061 Banking and Financial Institutions and Policy
PPPA 6085 Innovation in the Public Sector
PPPA 6085 Poverty and Social Poverty
PUBH 6340 Health Economics and Finance