

INTERNATIONAL ECONOMICS CONCENTRATION

DESCRIPTION

The International Economics concentration addresses international economic challenges and policy alternatives with a focus on economic reasoning and quantitative data analysis. Topics include international trade and investment, international finance and macroeconomic policy, international business strategies and economic organization, the development of national and regional economies, and the relationship between economics and politics.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

- Be familiar with the foundational theories and concepts in the field of international economics
- Understand and use quantitative research skills to analyze economic data
- Explain fundamental issues, debates, and strategies that relate to international economic policy
- Conceptualize and analyze international economic issues and policy challenges and identify and evaluate policy responses

REQUIREMENTS

- Students completing this concentration must use ECON 2181 International Trade Theory and Policy and ECON 2182 International Macroeconomic Theory and Policy to satisfy the advanced fundamentals international economics requirement.
- And five supporting courses listed under this concentration in the Bulletin.

Elliott

Resources:

- <https://bulletin.gwu.edu/international-affairs/undergraduate-programs/ba-international-affairs/international-economics/>
- elliott.gwu.edu/undergraduate-academic-advising
- <https://careerservices.gwu.edu/career-option-sheets>
- advising@gwu.edu